Cut to order: We produce and ship every item in our atelier outside of Seattle, WA. We strive to provide an alternative for long lead times and seasonal merchandise, allowing the buyer to bring in merchandise as they react to the weekly ebbs and flows of boutique business.

One size for all: Our unique and fashion forward drawstring that is incorporated into each garment allows a large range of customers to wear, enabling more customers to wear it with no fit issues, and no sizes leftover that did not sell. From a zero to a sixteen – the garments work and look great on everyone.

Winning Combination: Our product is made in the United States and supports the local economy, while using sustainable practices and material – 95 % organic viscose bamboo 5% lycra– which wears well and is buttery to the touch. To ensure everyone wins; the product retails for under $100 – everyone wins!
